New Moon (Holy Time)	Vernal Equinox	Annual Sabbath Day
-------------------------	-------------------	--------------------

Holy Time	Weekly Sabbath Day	Passover day; not a Sabbath day
-----------	--------------------------	------------------------------------

Heart preparation for Passover begins--this is the 10th day of the first month, the time when the lamb was taken from the fold and separated for the ceremony. Similarly, we must be separated unto YHWH for His reasonable service.

Notice: Cherry blossoms will be late in Washington DC;

Caution: 1) All observances offset in deep blue, called Sabbaths or holy days are celebrated from the previous evening to the next evening. For example, the first day of Unleavened Bread is April 27th and is observed from Monday evening at sunset to Tuesday evening at sunset.

2) Not all "holy times" are Sabbath days. For example, The feast of Tabernacles extends from Thursday, October 21st thru Thursday October 28th. Only the first and last days are Sabbaths, along with Saturday the 23rd. All other days are holy times, but one may perform gainful labor and execute business contracts on the intervening days, without being held accountable unto YHWH.
